Live Streaming: The last two morning services have been test runs for our internet live streaming of our services. The tests were successful, with additional changes to be made to make audio easier to hear while watching the services online. Our morning services can be watched live as they happen for those who are physically unable to make it to the service, as well as watched afterwards as they stay up on the channel. Internet connection is necessary to watch these streams, as they are uploaded to the video site YouTube. The simplest way to find it is to type the keywords "Blyth CRC" in the search bar. The result will be the Blyth CRC's current channel which has the videos in it. This channel is under maintenance and we are working to make it better and more streamlined. We hope this will be helpful for allowing people who can't make it to the service to watch it, as well as possibly being an outreach tool for others searching through videos on YouTube.
